

Anatomy of an Article —title

Read the Paper

Read "The evolution of Technical communication: An analysis of industry job Postings."

Answer the questions

Follow the instructions step by step and answer the questions.

Discuss

After complete the workshop prompts, collect your thoughts. Be prepared to discuss your findings with the class.

Reading a Research Paper Workshop

Step One: Read the Paper

- Highlight any sentences or parts that you think are important for you to understand this paper better.

Step Two: Answer the following questions

- What is the research question of the paper?
- What method(s) does the paper use?
- What is the conclusion?

Step Three: Reflect on your reading strategies

- Which part did you read carefully/ intensively, and which part did you skip?

Step Four: Anatomy of a Journal Article

- What are the common parts of a journal article?
- What does each part tell you?
- Work with a partner and use a form to fill in what information is in each section of a journal article.

Step Five: Diversify your reading strategies when you read with different purposes

- Complete the form "Devise a reading strategy."